

Press release

Wenetus Interactive is a Brazilian company specialized in planning, production and management of interactive communication projects that brings effective results to the clients. Our actions are directed to our client always receive a greater return on investment which was made in the project.

In order to achieve this objectives, we use a methodology of production and measure of results. Every step is executed aiming to accomplish the pre-established goals, making the needs of planning and execution flexible.

We are not a technology company. We exist to connect people. Our differentiation is to focus on the needs of the target public and to practice simplicity, elaborating projects based on the most advanced solutions to the new media.

From a simple corporate blog to a complex interactive system, do not expect triviality from Wenetus. We are here to improve the image of our clients, and bring them to the fantastic world of high top technologies which is the digital communication where each consumer must be treated as a human being and not as a number.

Nowadays, we have clients on Brazil, Portugal and Ireland.
